1. Home: What it is (~1.5 to 2 min)

On screen: Home page (logo, brand, featured members)

Say:

Elder Wilson, thank you for your time. We've prepared a brief walkthrough of the Upper Room COGIC Professional Network.

This is a professional and ministry directory for our church. Its purpose is simple: help members of Upper Room find one another by career, specialty, and how they're available to serve, through mentorship, services, or fellowship.

The look and feel uses a warm brown and cream theme and the official Upper Room logo, so it reads as a church resource, not a generic social network.

Today the site is live with a small founding group of real members. We will await on leadership approval before we invite a wider group to join. That way growth stays under board guidance.

Optional aside (live only): Point briefly at the logo and one featured name so the board sees it is already real, not a mockup.

2. Search: Find by name or specialty (~1.5 to 2 min)

On screen: Search / directory browse

Say:

From here, anyone can search by name or look for a specialty, for example a trade, a profession, or a skill the church family might need.

The goal is not to replace personal relationships. It's to make gifts that are already in the congregation easier to find when someone needs help, guidance, or a trusted referral inside Upper Room.

Demo tip: Search a known name (e.g. "Wooden," "Raeford," "Fonville," or "Little") or a specialty such as HVAC so results appear quickly.

3. Member profile: Real example and privacy (~2 to 2.5 min)

On screen: Open one live profile (recommend Damian Little for a clear specialty, or Bishop Wooden for ministry leadership presence)

Say:

Here's a real member profile on the site today. You'll see professional background, specialty, and how that person is available to connect.

Contact is handled carefully. Rather than putting private phone numbers and emails out in the open, the directory supports privacy minded introductions. Someone can request an introduction through the site so connections stay respectful and intentional.

That design choice matters for ministry: we want visibility for service and fellowship, without unnecessary exposure of personal information.

Live members we may mention if asked (all real, on the site today):

1. Bishop Patrick L. Wooden Sr.

2. Clarence "Rocky" Raeford
3. Brandon J. Fonville & Rufus Pritchett Jr.
4. Damian Little (HVAC / Temperature Pros LLC)

4. Join: How people apply (~1.5 to 2 min)

On screen: Join / application form

Say:

When we are ready to grow the directory, people don't publish themselves overnight. They apply through the Join form.

Leadership, or designated coordinators, review each application before a profile goes live. That keeps the directory accurate, trustworthy, and aligned with church standards.

Right now we are not actively recruiting beyond the founding members. Expanding the roster is exactly what I'm asking the board to consider.

5. Admin: Leadership only overview (~1.5 to 2 min)

On screen: Admin login page only (or describe without logging in). Password is subject to change if board deems necessary.

Say:

Behind the scenes there is a password protected admin area for leadership and trusted coordinators only.

From there, authorized people can review applications, approve or decline them, and keep the directory current. Access would be shared privately with whoever the board designates.

The important point for the board is: oversight is built in. This is not an open free for all. Publication stays under leadership control.

If pressed for a deeper demo: Offer a private follow up with designated coordinators only. Still do not put the password in slides, handouts, or recordings.

6. Close: Status today and the ask (~1.5 to 2 min)

On screen: Return to Home

Say:

Where we are today: The site is live. Real founding members are listed. Search, profiles, Join applications, admin review, and privacy minded introductions are in place. The brand reflects Upper Room.

What we are waiting on: Leadership approval to invite more members and grow this as a church resource.

What we are asking of the board: Review and affirm this as an Upper Room ministry tool; give guidance on who should review applications; and approve a next step to carefully invite additional members under your oversight.

We're grateful for your leadership and happy to answer questions.

Then stop talking and take questions.

Quick Q&A prompts (if needed)

If they ask...	You can say...
Who is on it now?	Real founding members: Bishop Wooden, Clarence "Rocky" Raeford, Brandon Fonville and Rufus Pritchett Jr., and Damian Little (HVAC / Temperature Pros).
Is contact info public?	Introductions are privacy minded; we avoid broadcasting private details.
Who controls membership?	Applications go through Join; leadership reviews before publish. Admin is password protected.
What's the cost / tech risk?	Keep it non technical: it's a church directory website under leadership control; happy to cover details with whoever you assign.
What's the next step?	Board affirmation, designate reviewers, then invite more members with your blessing.
